

Dear Sydney,

to start this letter off gusto ko lang sabihin is happy valentines day baby!!! the reason I wrote this letter for you is because I wanna show you how I truly treasure and adore you. I always cherish every moment na we're together, from the long call sessions, to the weekly dates that we always plan on ahead of time. When we first met and interacted with each other, ang first thought ko talaga is cute jud kaayo ka na pagka babae BWAHAHHA, tapos lingaw kauban, ma recall jud nako tong first interaction nato na medyo ulawon pa kaayo ko ato kay syempre di paman kaayo ta close pero as the days go on, the more we interacted and bonded with each other each passing day, our bond grew closer and closer each day.

Tapos na abot jud sa point na we started watching movies together (though ang first ever jud nato watching together is kauban si gab og lawrence) it still felt special to me (tho at that time ang tingin ko pa rin saiyo ato kay friend palang yk doing fun stuff like that) but i lowkey at that time i started to crave spending more time with you jud and at the same time that moment led me to start pursuing you jud. You know I'm gonna be completely honest with you pero sukad jud naka bonding taka kay murag naka crush najud kog sugod saimoha atoh pero ginabalewala lang jud nako. Then fast forward after sa happenings sa Dec 4 which is the day where we first met in person, didto najud ko nagsugod og consistent og chat saimoha, like nagainitiate always (sows sowss).

After sa mga nahitabo sakoa in the past ever since talaga atong mga traumatic things nahitabo sako is I thought na dili jud para sa akua ning relationship stuff kay kung ipakita nako akong genuine feelings kay maka turn off sya, so I stopped believing in love talaga kung ing ana na ang standards sa mga tao karon, I started focusing on building and loving myself since wala na talaga akong pagasa sa mga ganyan. But that all changed after I met you, like bai the moment na magbinuotan ka sa akua kay ma fall jud dayon ko ana, and I thought to myself na I hated myself sometimes na ing ana ko kadali ma fall, like grabe nagbinuotan ra gani ang babae saimoha tapos ing ana na dayon ma feel? (char over) but at the same time I want to believe in love again if may pagasa pa talaga ako sa ganito, so I took the risk and gambled it to you once again.

Ang masasabi ko lang talaga is I am so so soo glad na I met you, you were the girl that I have been praying for, the type of girl that I always wanted, the girl that I can be weird with, the girl that I can be myself with, the girl that I have so much similarities with, and I really thank you for appreciating and loving me, you have no idea how happy I truly am after experiencing the type of love that I have been longing for, by that I mean I really thank you for making me experience the love that I have always wanted. I really hope na you'll continue loving me this way and not just continue but I hope na this experience will last forever.

Anyways happy valentines day once again baby, always take care of yourself and I'm always here to support you no matter what, I will always pray for you na ma achieve mo lahat ng gusto mo in life and knowing you, you are an intelligent, considerate, caring, funniest, and the sweetest girl that I have met and I hope you'll continue and never stop being that way because you are adored and cherished by everyone you love, including me. I love you so so sooo much babyyy!!

Yours truly, Evan <3